

PRIMARY SOURCES - PART 1

Task A: Take two or three items from your purse, pocket, or bag. In the first column, identify each item either by name or by description.

Task B: In the second column, explain what each item says about you as its owner. Turn your paper over when you have completed Tasks A and B.

Description or identification of each item.	Explanation of each item in terms of what it says about its owner.	What someone else thinks each item says about its owner.

In a pair, triad, or small group, discuss the following questions:

1. What similarities did the two interpretations (Column 2 and Column 3) have?
2. How might you use this activity to explore the concepts of perception and historical accuracy?
